Fans Show Lack of Interest in Series—Scalpers Are Hard Hit.

Boston, Oct. 8 .- The calmness and tranquillity of a world's series waitover in the precincts of the Sacred Cod were ruffled to-day by a complaint emanating from the camp of the Brooklyn players. Certain Superba workers who expected to see 45,000 fans at the inaugural yesterday were evidently disappointed, especially in view of the fact that the players pool gets 60 per cent, of the receipts of the first four games.

It was declared by Chief Meyers, Jake Daubert and other bodgers that the players may not receive their due. The general division of the receipts is made on the basis of the official attendance and apparently not the money taken in for all tickets soid. It was all too evident vesteriax that thousands of too evident yesterday that thousands of tickets had been paid for but for vari-ous reasons had not been used. The players should get their share of the money received for those unused tickets.

for it threatens the welfare of baseball in Boston. It will be remembered that the Athletics in Philadelphia falled to derive any financial benefits from their last world's series. The Quaker City got too much of a good thing and the famed Athletic machine went to pieces both on the field and in the box office. Baseball eminence and enthusiasm runs in cycles, and Boston's cycle seems to be headed to

One of the biggest operators in the scalping line, whose native heath is Broadway, remarked with a look of supreme contempt, "Never again in Boston, the pikers:"

Not only is Boston tired of series games, but it does not hold a very exalted opinion of the Superbas. It is whispered that even among the Boston players there is a feeling of marked confidence that is rather out of place in a short series. Carrigan is combating that feeling, for he realizes, with all other well balanced followers of the game, that one game is not so big a start and that a series is a very uncertain thing.

He can point to the Cub-White Sox city series of 1912, in which the American Leaguers had to play five games before they broke into the winning column, and then gathered four in a row. The first two games were the next the Cub-way and the play and then gathered four in a row. BROOKLYN FANS STILL

Not a bit downhearted by the defeat of the Dodgers in the first game of the world's series, Brooklyn fans yesterday began making arrangements for the return of their favorites and for the first game at Ebbets Field to-morrow.

Ardent followers in every part of the city tried to make arrangements for a homeoming celebration, but as no concerted action was possible it is probable that the Dodgers will slide into New York early to-morrow morning from Boston, go to their homes and stay in seclusion until time for the battle in the afternoon.

Even less discouraged were Steven W. and Edward J. McKeever, the little heard of but truly important partners of C. H. Ebbets in the Brooklyn ball club. Rarely excepting at the annual meeting of the National League owners do the McKeever brothers slide into the limelight, but now it is different. Steve and Ed. as they are familiarly known to the home rooters, did not observe the Sabbath yesterday. They were coatless, sleeves turned up and wading through the ticket distribution for the opening of the series here.

"We usually allow Mr. Ebbets to handle the business of the club." explained Steven W. between jobs of answering a million questions and ordering forty clerks about. "But Mr. Ebbets could not stay away from Boston, and of course it is up to us to see that the tickets are handled correctly. As to that you can wager that the crowd in Brooklyn will be pleased with the treatment accorded them."
